KT BoD Confirms Yoon-Young Park as Final CEO Candidate

The Board of Directors of KT (the BoD) has confirmed Yoon-Young Park (Mr. Park) as the final candidate for the next CEO. Earlier today, the Director Candidate Recommendation Committee (the Committee) selected one final candidate after conducting in-depth interviews with three candidates. The BoD subsequently resolved to recommend Mr. Park to shareholder at the upcoming Annual General Meeting.

The Committee conducted in-depth interviews in line with the evaluation criteria, which were established based on the CEO qualifications stipulated in the Articles of Incorporation, the evaluation results from the external advisory group of experts, and feedback from key stakeholders. The interviews particularly focused on ▲enhancing corporate value, ▲building internal and external trust and fostering a cooperative management environment, ▲presenting a clear management vision and direction for change and innovation, and ▲establishing a foundation for sustainable growth.

The BoD evaluated Mr. Park as “a leader who has achieved meaningful results in DX and B2B sectors, leveraging his business experience and technology-driven management expertise at KT.” During the interview, Mr. Park emphasized the importance of honoring commitments to shareholders and the market, while presenting practical solutions to current issues. Based on these capabilities, the BoD concluded that Mr. Park is the right person to lead KT in strengthening its future competitiveness.

Yong-Hun Kim, Chair of the BoD stated, “The BoD concluded Mr. Park is the right person to establish a foundation for sustainable growth under a new management vision, drive change and innovation, swiftly restore trust both internally and externally, and build strong collaborative relationships with stakeholders.”

Subject to shareholder approval at the Annual General Meeting, Mr. Park will formally assume the role of CEO of KT.
